

Pytorch CNN

I completed the same task using PyTorch and a more detailed training process. I also managed to understand the issue with ClearML's performance - every time a new task is launched through the UI, the virtual environment (venv) is compiled for some time, but then the training process itself is even faster than before.

I also upload everything to GitHub file.

